

PORTLAND INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE

HALL OF FAME

Dear Supporters of the PIL,

The scouting report on COVID warned of a “wicked curve ball” and our eyes and lives have concurred. Just as our coaches and athletes in the PIL have adapted and weathered COVID’s trying health conditions, your Hall of Fame remains resilient in its mission to support the league’s athletes and facilities and honor those whose efforts continue to bring glory to the State’s first and most enduring interscholastic league.

Some highlights and updates from the past year:

- ◆ Our Golf Committee Chairs Steve Rudolph and Bruce Plato engineered an outstanding golf tournament with requisite health adjustments. We had 105 participants and netted slightly over $24,000.00. One of our best golf tournaments to date.
- ◆ We tip our hats to the patience of the 36-members in our 2020 induction class. After three postponements they are rescheduled for induction on October 16th with our 2022 class.
- ◆ We have revised our website (www.pilhalloffame.org) to be more user friendly, and we have created a “Featured Members of the Month” section on our home-page where Secretary Steve Brandon interviews a female and male Hall of Famer. These are must reads!
- ◆ We’ve launched the Denny Sullivan Scholarship Award through a generous donation from a Hall of Fame member who wishes to remain anonymous. Two $5,000 scholarships will be awarded to the outstanding male and female Track & Field or Cross Country athletes from the PIL. Sullivan was a revered coach at Grant High School in the early 1950’s until 1962.
- ◆ Big thank-yous go out to Marilyn Olson and Bob Woodle who served as our Vice-President and Secretary respectively for many years. Woodle remains as an Induction coordinator.

Here are a few ways you can help the PIL Hall of Fame assist the PIL Hall in our mission:

DID YOU KNOW?

There are many things to find on the PIL Hall of fame web-site but none is more compelling than the articles written by Steve Brandon, former Sports Editor for the Portland Tribune and a very active member (Secretary) of your PIL Hall of Fame board.

Following in depth interviews, Steve has written about the following members of the PIL Hall of Fame. Each month, Steve adds to the list, so keep tuning in to see what has come of your old teammates and fellow competitors.

You can view the “Members of the Month” by opening the www.pilhalloffame.org page and clicking on “inductees” tab at the top middle of that page.

An example of Steve’s interviews is shown on pages 10 & 11 in this newsletter. The Board welcomes Butch Lumby, featured in the article, to Board membership.

ONE MOE REASON TO VISIT

WWW.PILHALLOFFAME.ORG

The PIL Athletic Department has recently launched its own newsletter. The plan calls for the publication of three newsletters per year: fall, winter & spring.

Compiled by the PIL's Marci Walton, the newsletter provides in-depth information about league and individual champions in each of the sports offered during the season covered. A search of the newsletter will also tell you which athletes have received athletic scholarships and lists the schools that received their commitment. The newsletters also provide a snapshot of the Youth Sports being guided by the PIL.

If you want to know more about the league champions in basketball (Boys-Cleveland, Girls-Benson), wrestling (Cleveland), swimming (Lincoln), dance (Lincoln), track & field (Boys-Roosevelt, Girls-Lincoln), golf (Boys-Lincoln, Girls-Wells), baseball (Grant), softball (Roosevelt), you can find it by clicking on the "newsletters" tab on the website.

ENRICHING THE LIVES OF OUR STUDENT-ATHLETES THROUGH PARTICIPATION IN COMPETITIVE SPORTS

BUTCH LUMBY

Butch Lumby found out he was built for speed as a boy growing up in a great era for Grant High.

Sixty years after graduating, he's just as fast with his recall of those happy days and the outstanding athletics in the city. Lumby remembers his races, teammates, opponents and outstanding coaches, along with the neighborhood and its schools in the 1950s and early 60s. "We had it made," he says. "Good music, fun times, a very calm environment. There was no real pressure on us like the kids today have, with all the outside influences now. We had school, family and sports."

In sports – football and track and field – Lumby helped make it good for the Generals, but he's the first to remind a listener that he wasn't doing it alone. Grant was a huge school blessed with leaders and athletes.

Lumby, who graduated in 1962, pulled off a three-peat in the PIL 100-yard dash, winning the title in 1960, 1961 and 1962. He also claimed the 220 in 1961 and 1962.

And he was just part of a strong sprint corps that included the 1960 state 100 and 220 champion, Craig Nelson, and others.

"It was fun, competitive, not an individual thing for me but a team thing," he says of running track. "We had many years of being undefeated in dual meets. The streak was never discussed, but with 'Sully' leading the group, we just did it." That would be the Grant track coach at the time, Denny Sullivan, who turned into a lifelong friend and mentor for Lumby. Both are in the PIL Hall of Fame – Sullivan inducted in 2009, and Butch in 2011.

Sully's Grant track teams won seven PIL championships, plus the 1961 state title. "That was Sully in all his glory," Lumby says. Sullivan also guided Grant cross country to state crowns in 1957, 1958 and 1963, and was the school's first wrestling coach. "He set the standards for what you were going to do," Lumby says. "He was very calm, with a great sense of humor. The hard work you did you didn't realize you were doing because of his encouragement and support. "I wouldn't be where I am today without him."

Lumby was born in Portland and lived at Northeast 35th Avenue and Alameda Street, relatively easy walking distance to Grant. He played Little League and Babe Ruth baseball and helped lead Beaumont to three city championships and unbeaten records in flag football, but one day heard that there was going to be a track meet for kids at Grant Bowl. Wearing the tennis shoes of the day, he won the 100-yard dash on the old cinder track "and found out I had a little bit of speed."

He followed two older sisters who had attended Grant and turned out for freshman football, and went on to be a halfback for a couple of other legends, Frank Buckiewicz at the gridiron helm and Frank Wolf, an assistant.

Sullivan saw Lumby as a potential standout in the hurdles, his specialty when he was a student-athlete at the University of Oregon. Lumby didn't enjoy the hurdles so much, especially the hitting the hurdles and falling on the hard cinders part.

A sprinter he had no trouble convincing the coach he was, however. Lumby ran a 10-flat at Jefferson – a very good time, though, as Lumby points out, "I had no idea then what times meant. I don't think anybody did." Grant swept many a sprint, with Dick Fyock, Nelson and Lumby. "Just to be able to run against them was really an honor," Lumby says.

In the PIL 100 finals his sophomore year, Lumby was in an outside lane. "The gun went off. I relaxed and ran," he says. "I got to the finish line and looked to my left and Craig was behind me. I thought, 'Oh, my God, what happened.'" Nelson went on to win the state 100 and 200.

Lumby's even better days were ahead. In 1961, Lumby placed second in the state 100 and third in the 220, as Grant took its first-place team trophy by more than 18 points over Medford, the runner-up. Grant also won the 880 relay that year, and Lumby's 9.8 100 served as the PIL record for 3 ½ decades. Lumby returned as a senior to again sweep the sprints, clocking 9.9 and 21.8.

Two years in a row in the PIL meet, Lumby also held off a gifted athlete from Cleveland, Vern Rentle, who had beat him the week before the district championships (and was the only PIL foe to beat him in 1961 or 1962). At state, Rentle was second to Lumby in the 220 in 1962 and third behind Lumby and runner-up Dick Funderhide of Tigard in the 100.

All three of those state meets were at Oregon State, but it appeared that Lumby would wind up running for the rival Ducks and follow in Sully's footsteps in that regard. A funny thing happened on his way to Eugene, however. Sully arranged a meeting between Oregon track coach Bill Bowerman and Lumby, to take place at the Willamette Relays in Salem. Lumby and Bowerman were in an office when an Oregon trainer came in to inform the coach that one of his distance runners had turned an ankle. "Stay here, I'll be right back," Bowerman told Lumby. About an hour later, Bowerman had yet to return, but Sullivan came to tell Lumby the Grant bus was leaving and he had to go. Lumby and Bowerman never got together again, and Lumby never heard anything more from the Ducks. "I think Sully forgot to tell him what happened," Lumby said. "Bowerman must have thought I blew him off."

Months later, Lumby was still at home, planning to walk on at the University of Portland, which was launching a track team. The phone rang, and it was Oregon State coach Sam Bell. "I understand you're not going to Oregon," Bell said. "How soon can you get here?" Lumby told Bell he didn't have money or a car. "How soon can you be ready? I'll come and get you," Bell said, and he did, and Lumby was a Beaver.

Four years later, as OSU was beating Oregon in their dual meet at Hayward Field, Lumby was surprised to see Bowerman come up to him. "Butch, I found out much later what happened" that day at the Willamette Relays, Bowerman said. "But you've had a great career."

Lumby got to enjoy a Northern Division championship with Oregon State and run in the NAAs. His junior year, he won the division 100 and 220.

Lumby also took advantage of his opportunity at OSU to major in English, geography and history. "I had a really well-rounded education," he says.

Lumby taught one year and coached cross country at Jackson High, but for family reasons he moved to Los Gatos, California, where he and wife Timmy have been ever since. He taught and coached for 10 years in Los Gatos, in the San Jose area, then went into the construction industry, working for his father-in-law while doing some volunteer coaching.

Butch isn't Lumby's real first name (it's Leonard). But he became Butch when he was about an hour old. His father was a meat-cutter, and a friend asked his dad, "How is Little Butch doing?"

Lumby wound up working a summer job at the Lake Oswego grocery store where his dad was a butcher. He would see this one girl come into the store, but he was too shy to approach her. As a freshman at Oregon State, he saw the girl again – only she was dating a pole vaulter/teammate. The pole vaulter left after one year, though, and when he was a senior, Butch finally hooked up with the girl – who was Timmy and who, as of June 17, will have been his bride for 55 years.

Lumby, alas, "hasn't run a single step" since severing an Achilles tendon his senior year. It happened at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, one week before the NCAA championships, as he crossed the finish line in the 100 in a meet with UCLA and USC. But he has stayed active over the decades, and works out every day at 5 a.m., doing weight and circuit training.

He and Timmy also play a lot of golf and love to travel. "We take at least three big trips a year," he says. Most recently, they went to Italy, where a grandson plays rugby.

The injury was rough and very untimely, as Lumby was going to try to make the 1968 U.S. Olympic team. He already had joined the Marines to do his training with them. "But the injury took care of all that," he says. "I got an honorable discharge, which kept me out of Vietnam, and with those plans all changed, Timmy and I started being serious."

DID YOU KNOW?

Cleveland's Kyra Ly took the OSAA history books and threw them out the window during the Class 6A state championships at Emerald Valley Golf Club.

After finishing the first day with seven-under-par 65, Ly turned around and did it again. Finishing the second day of competition with seven-under-par 65 for a total of 130 for the tournament and the individual state championship.

The Oregon State-bound Ly's total is a new state record. The previous record was 11-under-par 133 and was set by Beaverton's Gigi Stoll in 2015. Helen Brodahl of Wells finished second with 146. In third was Sunset's Erika Kobayashi with 147.

DENNY SULLIVAN SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

This scholarship award has been established to honor Denny Sullivan (Sully), Track and Field coach at Grant High School from the early 1950's to his final season, 1962. During his tenure, his teams had five consecutive years of undefeated dual meets, several city relay and city track and field championships, and the state championship in 1961. Sully's track teams were the best in the history of Grant high school at that time.

The athletes under his guidance were required to remain academically eligible, remain on course to be eligible for entrance in an institution of higher learning, and be competitive in the athletic venture while enjoying each experience. The athletes had to establish goals and had to work hard to accomplish those goals, while letting the performances be proof of the dedication and work ethic.

The Denny Sullivan Scholarship Award will annually honor the top graduating Portland Interscholastic League male and female track and field/cross country athlete as nominated by their schools. The winners will be selected by an independent committee and honored at the annual Portland Interscholastic League Hall of Fame ceremony held in October. Each winner will receive a $5000 scholarship to be paid to their college of enrollment.

LETTER FROM A MEMBER OF THE PIL HALL OF FAME

There are almost 1000 people that have been inducted into the PIL Hall of Fame. Over the years, many have made suggestions to improve the PIL Hall of Fame.

An idea comes from a member and donor who shared the following thoughts.

"There may be benevolent folks interested in participating in specific funding for purposes of forwarding the goals and objectives of the PIL Hall Of Fame. This can be accomplished primarily in two ways:

- ♦ People who have IRA's must take distributions each year once they turn 72. Any contribution, large or small, is not taxable out of an IRA if the funds are directly donated to the organization. Whereas the funds would leave the possession of the donor, there would be no taxes on the gift to the giver and 100% of the gift is given.
- ♦ Others might have estates they wish to reduce for tax purposes, utilizing the gifting option.

Many former athletes have fond memories of their competitive years in the PIL. Some might desire to offer scholarships to current deserving PIL athletes. Others might want to make a donation in memory of a former teammate and friend that would help the PIL Hall of fame fulfill its mission.

The PIL Hall of Fame is a 501 © (3) organization.
